

Crack down!

Lyrics: Steven McNair Music: Yoshimi Kudo

Time is ticking, waiting for the reckoning It's coming, now we, take back control

Take control

Signs in the sky exploding Ignite the fight inside of me Know your reasons The weakness in us can be real Keep secrets down & don't you feel At all but jump right in the brawl

Inch by inch claim what was ours, ours to win Don't flinch its the day its the hour to begin So Inch by inch claim what was ours, ours to win Don't flinch, it's the day We'll fight or die so why don't I decide?

*I'll break down the door to the future with my cold hardened steel That white blinding light will wipe this memory away We are crying out today for tomorrow with this bold burning zeal Even so, who will live or die a hero? only one way, one way to know Taking back, KA!

Take control

All the smoke and dust will not clear Each monster must be crushed and sheared No point in reason Right from the start they're out to kill But they cannot destroy our will To be their lethal enemy

Step by step, close up the gap, seal the trap and Set your bets on the attack, don't look back no Step by step, close up the gap, seal the trap and Set your bets on all us making it out the other side

*Repeat

Right here, let everybody know We don't make fake threats or mess around No fear, no way, just let it blow Teach them the hard way Right here, let everybody know We don't take no threats just lying down No fear, no way, just let it blow Into a new day Let's destroy the night, destroy the night, for you and I, for you and...

I'll break down the door to the future with my cold hardened steel That white blinding light will wipe this memory away We are crying out today for tomorrow with this bold burning zeal Even so, who will live or die a hero? Oh I know

We can fly over the wall to the future with our wings, small but real From here, say goodbye to all we've left behind We are crying out today and tomorrow with this bold burning zeal Even so, who will live or die a hero? only one way, one way to know Taking back, KA!

Take control
